Strip Mining Control Vetoed By Ford

Vail, Colo. (AP) = President Ford vetoed the controversial strip mining and ship cargo preference bills Monday, maintaining they would have adverse effects on the nation s economy and international interests.

He gave his approval to a $2.69 billion foreign aid measure, but expressed his unhappiness over several restrictions he said "may pose severe problems to our interests," and arbitrarily bind the United States in its dealings with foreign countries.

Ford had announced that he would veto the strip mining bill that would impose environmental controls on surface coal mining. But, the veto of the Energy Transportation Security Act that would have required transportation of a percentage of imported oil on U.S. commercial ships, came as a sur-

Action on the two bills was taken by pocket veto, by which a President takes no action on a bill that has reached a signing deadline while Congress is not in session.

Ford said the tanker bill "would create serious inflationary pressures by increasing the cost of oil and raising the prices of all products and services which depend on oil."

The strip mining bill, which Ford said would adversely affect coal production, increase unemployment and have an inflationary impact, had been the culmination of a three-year effort by environmentalists to curb the ravages of strip mining.

It would have required mine operators to restore land to its original contours after mining and would have authorized state enforcement programs and a tax on coal of 25 to 35 cents a ton to pay for a $180 million-a-year land-reclamation

But, Ford said, "the adverse impact of this bill on our domestic coal production is unacceptable at a time when the nation cal ill afford significant losses from this critical energy resource. It would also further complicate our battle against in-

DECEMBER 31, 1974

He cited Federal Energy Administration estimates that between 48 million and 141 million tons of coal would be barred from production by 1977 by this bill.

In Washington, Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association said, "The surface mining bill would have greatly increased electric utility fuel costs . . . Land surface-mined for coal will be effectively reclaimed without federal law because every major mining state has a reclamation law and federal regulations cover public

Marian Edey, spokesman for the League of Conservation Voters, said the veto of the stripmining bill was "terrible . . . a lot of people put a lot of work into that bill."

Ford signed the major foreign aid bill, which included a cutoff of military aid to Turkey after Feb. 5 unless the President certifies that Turkey is complying with the U.S. law on the use of aid for non-military purposes and was making substantial progress in negotiations to settle the Cyprus crisis.

The Lincoln City Council agreed Monday night to look into charges of alleged police harassment in enforcing the city's drunk driving laws.

The council will meet Friday Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf and police officials to discuss procedures used in enforcing those laws. It will be at that meeting that the lawmakers may decide to launch a full scale investigation into charges of police misconduct alleged by businessman Rodger Dickeson. Dickeson, president of Mid-

Post-Holiday Sales Booming In Lincoln

Star Staff Writer

At least five department store managers in Lincoln are all smiles this post-Christmas season.

And no wonder.

Most stores are packed wall-to-wall with Christmas clearance bargain hunters. Many are high school and college students out to spend holiday cash and gift certificates, but quite a few families and elderly people are also browsing, visiting and buying.

Sales racks are predictably topsy turvy. Size 151/2 shirts are pretty well mixed in with size 17 by now. Christmas wrap and holiday greeting card displays at 50% off are already scraping bottom. 'Going Great'

Brandeis Manager S. J. Marchese said optimistically the traditional after-Christmas clearance is "going great . . . up considerably over the same period a year ago.

Especially popular, Marchese noted, have been the seasonal clearance items: wrap, cards, trim-the-home, lingerie and foundations, toys and bedding.

The Christmas season itself "turned out excellent," he said. Although it got off to a slow start, business picked up steam coming down to the wire.

"I walked around for three or four days all depressed," he confided. "I was afraid for awhile the bottom was falling out of our business." But the last four or five days "people realized Christmas was nearly here. We saw an astronomical sales increase." Pleased, But Busy

Miller and Paine Sales Promotion Manager James Sandin said, "We're very pleased . . . and very busy. "We've had a good year, so this kinda kèeps pace with a very general overall gain," he said. Out of curiosity, Sandin said, he checked sales records but could find little difference in what people are buying compared to past years.

However, a spokesman for Hovland-Swanson said he noticed people purchasing traditional gifts - jewelry, cosmetics and intimate apparel — before Christmas. Now, the ready-to-wear sales are booming.

All told, Christmas sales "turned out quite well," he said. People may have bought more items this year, he observed, but they didn't seem to spend as much.

He said last-minute shoppers pulled business "way up."

"I can't blame them (late buyers)," he said. "There were probably more values right near the end. Some merchants may have been a little worried."

Skipping Novelties

A. L. Trehearn at J. C. Penneys labeled year-end buying "about normal," noting that shoppers were still sticking to the -basics of life and skipping over the novelties.

When the store opened at 11 a.m. Dec. 26th for its annual bargain brigade, Trehearn said, "people were stacked out to the curb." Employes came in at 8 a.m. that day to reprice and reorganize sale items, he explained. Since then, it has been every shopper for him(her)self.

At Richman Gordman, which is in more of a residential area at 48th and Vine, regional manager Marvin Dienstfrey said, "We're tickled pink with sales prosecutor Duane Nelson, Cash said that he assumed that Thorne was reading the titles and authors of real books.

After the federal bureaucracy assumed control of the reservations, Cash said, there was a "strong movement by white reformers" in the 1920's to re-establish a form of tribal self-government.

'Real Disaster'

The 1920's were an "era of real disaster" for the American Indian, Cash said, when they reached their lowest point economically and in land base rapidly to whites during this decade under a variety of governmental programs.

Tribal self-government was re-established fraditional Sioux customs, Cash said. He said the majority of the reservation populations voted to accept the new way of government.

In earlier testimony, Cash said that the Sioux did not move to the area covered by the Fort Laramie Treaty of 1868 until they were forced from the forests around Lake Superior by Chippewas and Crees, who had obtained guns from the French.

He said the Sioux moved into South Dakota in the 1700's. Some of the defense witnesses have testified that the Sioux had always lived in the region, others testified that the Great Spirit gave the land to the Sioux hundreds of years ago.

Cash, who told Thorne that he believes the Sioux who testified at the hearing were "entirely sincere," echoed defense witnesses in some of his testimony.

Gold Discovered

When gold was discovered in the Black Hills in the 1870's, he said, "there was an invasion of gold seekers into country that absolutely did not belong to them."

Cash also agreed with defense witnesses who have claimed the government did not abide by a provision in the 1868 treaty when they secured an alleged agreement under which the Sioux gave up much of the land reserved by them under the treaty. The land included the Black Hills.

The provision in the treaty was that it could not be changed without an approving vote of three-fourths of the adult males. Cash said that officials came up with a "fake sort of thing" in which the signatures of leaders were supposed to represent the signatures of their

What was left of the Sioux Nation after the agreement of 1877 was broken into reservations in North and South Dakota in 1889, as Gen. George Crook negotiated with different bands, Cash said.

Cash, who was still on the witness stand when court recessed Monday, will probably be the only government witness, according to the prosecution. Closing oral arguments are expected Thursday.

While he admitted he "couldn't begin to prove it," Robinson said it was his "gut reaction" that the LES hiked the rates out of spite.

Sioux Reservations Said Taken Over By BIA University of Iowa, after ten years of teaching in high schools. Thorne also read a list of books on Indian life, asking Cash if he had read them.

After reading the list, Thorne asked to meet in Judge Warren K. Urbom's chambers, where he revealed that some of the titles and authors were fictitious. On one of the fictitious names Cash had responded that he had looked at the book, but had not read it.

Later, under questioning by special prosecutor Duane Nelson, Cash said that he assumed that Thorne was reading the titles and authors of real books.

After the federal bureaucracy assumed control of the reservations, Cash said, there was a "strong movement by white reformers" in the 1920's to re-establish a form of tribal self-government.

'Real Disaster'

The 1920's were an "era of real disaster" for the American Indian, Cash said, when they reached their lowest point economically and in matters of morale, health and education.

The Sioux, Cash said, were losing their land base rapidly to whites during this decade under a variety of governmental programs.

Tribal self-government was re-established on the reservations by the Wheeler-Howard Act in 1934, but on an elected basis rather than traditional Sioux customs, Cash said. He said the majority of the reservation populations voted to accept the new way of government.

In earlier testimony, Cash said that the Sioux did not move to the area covered by the Fort Laramie Treaty of 1868 until they were forced from the forests around Lake Superior by Chippewas and Crees, who had obtained guns from the French.

He said the Sioux moved into South Dakota in the 1700's. Some of the defense witnesses have testified that the Sioux had always lived in the region, others testified that the Great Spirit gave the land to the Sioux hundreds of years ago.

Cash, who told Thorne that he believes the Sioux who testified at the hearing were "entirely sincere," echoed defense witnesses in some of his testimony.

Gold Discovered

When gold was discovered in the Black Hills in the 1870's, he said, "there was an invasion of gold seekers into country that absolutely did not belong to them.

Cash also agreed with defense witnesses who have claimed the government did not abide by a provision in the 1868 treaty when they secured an alleged agreement under which the Sioux gave up much of the land reserved by them under the treaty. The land included the Black Hills. The provision in the treaty was that it could not be changed without an approving vote of three-fourths of the adult males. Cash said that officials came up with a "fake sort of thing" in which the signatures of leaders were supposed to represent the signatures of their followers. What was left of the Sioux Nation after the agreement of 1877 was broken into reservations in North and South Dakota in 1889, as Gen. George Crook negotiated with different bands, Cash said. Cash, who was still on the witness stand when court recessed Monday, will probably be the only government witness, according to the prosecution. Closing oral arguments are expected Thursday.

Sirica Refuses To Let Jurors Have Testimony

District Judge John J. Sirica sent the Watergate cover-up case to the jury Monday after 13 weeks of trial. The panel deliberated four hours without reaching a verdict, and recessed until Tuesday.

Sirica excused the jurors until Tuesday after turning down their written request to be given huge chunks of trial testimony to aid them.

"We'd be trying this case all over again," Sirica told the jurors after summoning them back to court. "We'd be in a state of confusion."

Sirica Impassioned

Sirica sent the case to the jury at lunch time with an impassioned plea for a verdict that would at last reflect the truth behind the bugging scandal.

The nine women and three men began their deliberations at 1:55 p.m. Three hours and 50 minutes later they sent a note to Sirica asking for all the trial testimony of defendant John N. Mitchell, all of Mitchell's grand jury testimony April 20, 1973, and the trial testimony of major witnesses John W. Dean III, Fred LaRue and Jeb Stuart tice not to send the jury transcripts of trial testimony.

Prosecution and defense lawyers refused to speculate about what the jury's request might mean. It appeared, however, that the jurors were trying to recall crucial evidence from the early weeks of the trial and were having some difficulty.

Voice Quivers His voice quivering with emotion as he ended a nearly twohour charge to the jurors, Sirica said it was their "solemn duty" to judge who, if anyone, is responsible for hushing up the bugging scandal.

The object of this trial is to ascertain the truth about the issues that have been submitted for your determination," Sirica said, his voice rising.

"And how do you arrive at the truth? You do so by using your good common sense, objectively and without any passion, bias, prejudice or emotion, remembering at all times that you are under oath to give all parties in this case a fair and impartial trial "

The five former aides to Richard M. Nixon accused of conspiracy in the cover-up plot - Mitchell, H R. Haldeman, Sirica said it is standard prac- John D. Ehrlichman, Robert C.

Use Evidence Only Sirica, who has handled Watergate cases from the time five men were arrested inside Democratic Party headquarters June 17, 1972, urged the jury repeatedly to consider only the evidence and not to be swayed by extraneous considerations such as possible punishment a conviction might bring, or the full pardon granted Nixon for his own Watergate crimes. "Neither the pardon of former President Nixon nor any other cases or extraneous matters should have any effect on your deliberations or your verdict,"

The jurors have not been told of Nixon's, near-fatal illness, his examination by court-appointed doctors or Sirica's ruling that he need not give testimony.

All five defendants are charged with conspiracy in the cover-up, while all but Mardian also are charged with actual obstruction of justice. Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehlrichman are charged as well with lying before the grand jury or the Senate Watergate Committee.

Delay Of Brezhnev Visit To Alter Mideast Picture

Brezhnev's long-heralded trip to the Middle East in January has been indefinitely postponed, Tass announced Monday. The main reason appeared to be that Brezhnev and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat could not see eye to eye on future moves toward a Mideast settlement.

However, a Cairo newspaper reported in Tuesday's edition that an official Egyptian source said the trip will soon be rescheduled. The masscirculation Al Akhbar quoted Brezhnev as having told Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy in Moscow last week: "I am longing to see my brother President Anwar Sadat, and my visit to Egypt will materialize.""

Differences over terms for continued Soviet arms shipments to Egypt also were seen here and in Cairo as a major reason for calling off the visit, although none was given in the terse announcement by the official Soviet news agency. Tass said new dates for visits to Egypt, Syria and Iraq would be agreed upon later.

Later in the day Tass warned against any speculation regarding worsening Soviet-Arab relations, which it insisted remained strong. The news agency did not single out Egypt.

There had been Western reports after Brezhnev's trip to Paris earlier this month that he was ill and there was speculation that illness might be behind the postponed trip to the Middle East. However, Brezhnev appeared well on his 68th birthday Dec. 19.

The Israeli government had no immediate comment on the postponed visit. But a senior official in Jerusalem said "one positive element" of the postponement was that the American approach to a Middle East settlement "has a bit more time. But before we begin celebrating we would like to know more about the reason.

Some Eastern European diplomats in the Middle East suggested the Brezhnev decision was tied to an unwillingness to compete for attention with visits by King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to Damascus and the Shah of Iran to Cairo in January.

But the reason seemed certain to be deeper and more compelling than that and it may well revolve about Soviet annoyance with Sadat and his continued acceptance of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's step-by-step approach to the Arab-Israeli crisis. Brezhnev has wanted the settlement effort moved as soon as possible to Geneva where the Soviets would be more visible.

There could also be some disagreement between the Soviets and the Egyptians over terms for continued arms shipments. The Soviet Union may have found Sadat balking at the idea that new arms shipments could be accompanied by another influx of Soviet military technicians.

Dickeson Accuses Lincoln Police Of Playing 'Numbers Game'

By DICK HOLMAN Star Staff Writer

Citing more examples of alleged police harassment, Roger V. Dickeson has charged Lincoln police play a "numbers game" in arrests, blinding officers' perspective in dealing with people.

Other Lincolnites Monday corroborated new charges by Dickeson, who has repeatedly called for an official investigation into possible abuses by police enforcing laws on driving while intoxicated (DWI).

In a letter to the Lincoln-City Council, Dickeson, president of Mid-America Webpress, said he has received a telephone call from "Mr. G," alleging mistreatment by police. Dickeson in two previous letters cited six cases, A through F, of alleged police violation of suspects' constitutional rights, negligence and invalid DWI arrests.

Dickeson said Mr. G, employed in one of the professions, was picked up by police, was denied both a phone call and an attorney, and was "thrown into the (drunk) tank, incommunicado."

When Mr. G "protested inhumane treatment," Dickeson wrote, an officer replied, "Keep talking and we'll show you some real inhumane treatment."

Mr. G's blood alcohol content tested out at 0.11% (Nebraska law puts intoxication at 0.10% or more), and Dickeson said that police "offered him a reckless (driving) copout for a guilty plea," and Mr. G "took it."

· Dickeson said he will furnish Mr. G's real name and details of the incident to the City Council later.

Dickeson also referred to an incident that occurred in March at the Sheraton Motor Inn restaurant, N.W. 12th and W. Bond.

General Manager Richard Blok confirmed the story:

During a Mardi Gras party, Blok said, a couple who had been named "bestdressed" were throwing streamers and celebrating when police appeared and asked Blok's assistant to "take this couple out of the dining room.'

'Big Hustle Into Lobby' Blok said the "wrong couple" was approached at first. Then, when police grabbed the right people, officers made a "big hustle into the lobby". Blok said about 200 patrons started shouting about police harassment, and the couple was taken to a squad car.

The Sheraton subsequently was fined $600 in lieu of closing down for 12 days for a violation of its liquor license. Blok said the Chamber of Commerce called a meeting about the alleged harassment.

After that meeting, Blok said, he and Dick Lowe were standing at an elevator in the building where the Chamber of Commerce is located, 1221 N, when Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf waiked up to them.

"The minute he (Schwartzkopf) saw me," Blok said, "he said, 'You son of a bitch! I ought to run you out of town'.'

Mayor Schwartzkopf admitted Monday he made the statement to Blok, but that he used the language he thought Blok had used toward police. The mayor said he told Blok, "when you talk to cops (that way), they're shocked" the same way. 'Didn't Talk to Police'

Blok said when Schwartzkopf "stormed at me," he apparently "felt that I harassed the police officers" in the Mardi Gras incident. "I didn't even talk to a police officer," he said.

Blok said "I don't think he (the mayor) said it with the intention of running me out of town," but "as a mayor, I felt he should be a little bit more diplomatic."

Lowe, a former Sheraton owner, said he remembers Schwartzkopf calling Blok "a foreign son of a bitch" and that Blok "ought to get his ass out of this country."

Lowe agreed the mayor was trying "to prove a point," but said it "was in extremely poor taste," because a woman and Police Chief Joe Carroll were standing by.

"If you take any kind of an action against the police department or the administration of what the city's doing,' Lowe said, "they (Schwartzkopf and Carroll) sort of mark you." After the Mardis Gras incident, the offering to cooperate in future enforcement procedures, but Lowe said the police did not follow up. Uniformed Police Sheraton management met with police.

Now uniformed police walk through the Sheraton restaurant, and Lowe said, "You just don't do that in a nice dining room.

Blok also said police cruisers followed him home, "a half dozen times, maybe more.

A Holland native who has been in the U.S. 14 years — and in Lincoln since July 1, 1973 — Blok said he has "worked coastto-coast" and has "never run into" such stringent law enforcement procedures.

Dickeson, in the letter, also refered to Lincoln attorney Walter H. Radcliffe, who wrote Dickeson that one individual, stopped by police for a breath test, "did not test (above the intoxication limit) and was sent home. He has been stopped six times since then, yet has never been cited with a traffic violation.

Radcliffe told The Star Monday, "That is what my client has told me," and added he believes his client is telling the

'Sandbagged With Digits'

 Dickeson wrote to the City Council, "We've been sandbagged with digits to the point of dehumanization," in a reference to the police reply about increased alcohol consumption and DWI

"When you over-emphasize the statistics in police administration, Dickeson wrote, "it becomes a numbers game." He added, "You can give all-the lip service you want to the public, but the guys in the squad cars and in the DWI room can tell the ostensible from the real." That is an apparent implication that numbers of arrests are more highly valued under police policy - a basis for promotion, he suggests - than treating people courteously and legally. Dickeson wrote that Police Chief Carroll and Mayor Schwartzkopf "are trapped. They honestly believe there are no stake-outs (of taverns by police), tailings, unauthorized accosts; brutalizations. But what they perceive'is what they want to believe.'

Dickeson also decried the Legislature, which he said "plays the game." He cited the lowering of the intoxication blood alcohol level from 0.15% to 0.10%, questioning that as it relates to different individuals' capacities for sobriety.

"We need numbers." Dickeson wrote. but said "The name of the game is humans ... numbers are not the end

City lawmakers flatly rejected a proposal Monday which would have allowed underaged restaurants and bars where liquor is served.

The council members agreed that the proposed ordinance change would compound enforcement problems instead of easing them.

At issue was a proposal to repeal the restriction which prohibits minors under 16 from remaining in a place where liquor is sold after 9 p.m., unless accompanied by an adult.

The council originally considered that measure at the request of the Auditorium Advisory Board which said the provision would conflict with the council's recent enactment of a liberalized liquor policy at the auditorium.

Smith said proposed renovations include construction of a roof over the stage area and the addition of an orchestra pit and dressing room at the outdoor amphitheater located in the city's Pioneers Park.

Smith said his department is seeking additional private donations to help complete the renovations. The Lincoln Foundation has earmarked $10,000 for improvements.

Ford's New Perspective

The pristine, alpine air of Vail has cleared the President's head, it appears. No more fog; the administration's ship, adrift of late, has charted a new course. That, at least, is what we have been turkey to the Congress.

His State of the Union address, said mountain White House spokesmen, will contain "hard and tough" proposals to deal with the economy and with energy-related

Since that time Congress has done very little of a creative nature to deal with inflation and recession and the President has done little more than advise us to clean our plates and ask us to pledge not to spend foolishly and ask our neighbors to do the same. But there are signs pointing to congressional initiative in January and that may have something to do with Ford's new

That and the snow in his face and the fireplace and hot toddies after. A whole new. perspective.

His economic advisors apparently have talked the President out of the surtax idea and into, possibly, the notion of a tax reduction. That is, shifting the direction from fighting inflation to fighting recession. That is the fashionable thinking now and we're not prepared to say it's wrong.

Only there is the fervent hope that along with the shift in direction there will be a shift in emphasis, in oomph.

"Hard and tough." "Talking turkey."

Promises, promises. The puny program he offered in the fall inspired neither Congress nor the people. Whereas the majority of Americans are still living high enough, the pinch is getting tighter and tighter.

That is one reason to believe that Ford will translate the tough talk emanating from the slopes of Vail into a two-fisted attack on the nation's economic problems which will be much more virile than the dast offering. Figures released by the Pentagon show that a smaller percentage of honorable discharges were given by the U.S. armed forces during fiscal 1974, which ended last June 30, than at any other time during the past quarter century.

According to statistics, the main problem is in the Army and Marine Corps, where one of six leaving the service last year-failed to get an honorable discharge. For the first time since such records have been kept, honorable discharges servicewide fell below 90%. The big increase was in the two middle types of discharge general and undesirable — which can be issued by officers to those considered unfit for military service.

This does not augur well for the volunteer armed services concept, but not for the reason expressed by Rep. Les

The bill boils down to a delegation of power to the President of the United States to do as he pleases about trade - raise or lower, give or take, make nice-nice or talk nasty-nasty. By placing the burden on the presidential shoulders, each congressman can now walk more lightly. He does not have to say no to any heavy production like autos, constituent. # One Man's Theory

BOSTON — The gravest development of the year 1974, it would now be generally agreed, was the exercise of monopoly power by the oilexporting countries. As the year ends, many weighty voices warn that the quadrupling of oil prices threatens a world economic collapse. Some speak of Western civilization being at risk.

If the possibilities are so grim, why is there no meaningful threat to change the situation by force? This disturbingly simple question is posed in a paper that seems likely to have wide reverberations. It is by Robert W. Tucker, professor of international relations at John Hopkins University; it will be published in the January issue of Commentary.

Tucker puts forward the idea of an American military operation in the Persian Gulf, and coolly discusses its pro's and con's. His paper is the more interesting because he is known as an advocate of reduced U.S. commitments abroad.

 $\triangle$   $\triangle$   $\triangle$

Traditionally, Tucker says, the very meaning of a "crisis" in relations between countries has been a conflict over vital interests in which the use of force was "an ever-present possibility." Yet here the most vital interests are at stake, and there is no meaningful threat of force. Is that because of tactical obstacles, or has there been a "revolutionary change" in international society?

In practical terms Tucker sees no great difficulty with military action. The best target area for seizure, he says, would be the coastal strip from Kuwait to Qatar, which accounts for 40% of OPEC production. The states there are now militarily feeble. Since they have little population and few trees, "Effective control does not bear even remote comparison with the experience of Vietnam." In the same brisk way Tucker dismisses as unlikely a Soviet counterintervention. He assumes that oil facilities in the seized area would be destroyed but estimates that they could be functioning again in, at worst, three to four months.

Then, he says, the United States could use the oil production to break the cartel. It should demonstrate that this was a "disinterested" intervention by arranging an "equitable allocation of the oil on a cost-plus basis." The big oil companies should not be allowed to continue their "exorbitant profits." The producing countries would be treated fairly by assuring them a reasonable price (apparently around $5 or $6 a barrell, though Tucker does not say), tied in the future to changes in international price levels.

For practitioners of Realpolitik, those who think in terms of power, there is an undeniable logic in the Tucker thesis. If the United States could wage war for a decade in Vietnam, where we had no measurable political or economic interest, it is lunatic inconsistency to do nothing when the survival of the Western system is said

The Realpoliticians kept us fighting in Vietnam for years in order, they said, to demonstrate our determination and credibility. The irony is, of course, that their obsessive pursuit of that irrational and immoral adventure sapped American will - the will not only to fight but to undertake strong action short of war in defense of real interests.

For the "astonishing" thing about U.S. reaction to the oil price crisis, to use Professor Tucker's adjectivé, is that we have done almost nothing serious of a political or economic nature. At home, two presidents have wasted a year refusing to inconvenience the voters; in the face of overwhelming evidence of the need to cut back hard on energy use, we go on with the habit of gluttony. Abroad, we compete to sell billions in the newest weapons to the Persian . Gulf states, arming those who we say are on the way to destroying us.

To the extent that the Tucker paper enlarges understanding of what is at stake, it will have served a valuable purpose. To the extent that it paints American military intervention as a clean, quick way out of the oil crisis, I think it will have been unfortunate.

Experience makes it wise to be more doubtful than Tucker about U.S. military effectiveness, more cautious about the risk of Soviet response, more concerned about nationalist reprisals. One must be especially skeptical at the vision of the United States nobly adis the question of morality - or, rather, of reason. Is it rational to undertake war and all its possible consequences in order to bring the price of oil down from $10 to $6? That can be argued only if the difference means disaster. But we know now that the supply of oil is limited and that growing demand would probably push prices up before long in any event.

Facts And Figures

The letter, "Cost of Steam," from Mr. Curtis D. Kimball in the Thursday, December 26, 1974, Star suggested that the LES Accounting Department is projecting too much cost for steam beat because a Chicago consulting firm provided some alternate costs allocations.

In Mr. Kimball's plea for low steam heat rates, he failed to address the basis of LES studies or the assumptions of the Duff & Phelps, Inc. report. That report, prepared on the behalf of the steam users, as well as the presentation to the LES Board, presumed that the K Street plant is operated primarily for generation of electric power. From that presumption costs were allocated to steam customers on the basis of BTU's produced for steam in comparison with BTU's for power generation.

The K Street plant was acquired for the sole purpose of producing steam heat for downtown. Therefore, it would not be unfair at all to allocate all of the cost of K Street, other than the value of specific power that might be required by the Electric System, to steam heat. Nonetheless, in our cost allocations we very conservatively assess steam users the cost of providing steam heat by allocating full capacity (KW) and energy (KWH) values for electric production, summer and winter, throughout the remaining steam heat period to electric rate payers even though during the winter cycle, power and energy in most cases are not required at all.

This can best be illustrated by the cost that we have allocated to the electric rate payers, the reallocation suggested by Duff & Phelps, and the average cost of electrical power to be purchased and produced for the remaining steam heat period as set forth in the following table:

This table clearly illustrates we are allocating far more than the value of the power produced or purchased from othe sources to the electric rate payers throughout the remaining

Ignoring the fact we are charging throughout the period that we have operated and will operate K Street for steam production, a cost to electric rate pavers in excess of the value of power, the proforma results through the phase-out of steam heat reflect the following:

Plant Operating Losses for Steam Heat Production 5 625 652 413 056 Total $1,038,708

Even after the phase-out of steam, there will be further write-offs in the final retirement of the plant replacing the capacity and paying the final debt service which will be charged to electric production.

I believe that this allocation that assesses approximately 50% of the overall excess cost of operating K Street, a plant that is beyond its useful life, the electric rate payers and approximately 50% of the steam heat customers is more than fair. WALTER A. CANNEY

Bad News For The Military

The pristine, alpine air of Vail has cleared the President's head, it appears. No more fog; the administration's ship, adrift of late, has charted a new course. That, at least, is what we have been promised.

Out of his holiday working vacation in Colorado ski country — devoted mostly to working this past weekend — comes word that Ford will deliver on his promise to talk turkey to the Congress.

His State of the Union address, said mountain White House spokesmen, will contain "hard and tough" proposals to deal with the economy and with energy-related problems.

When he unveiled the WIN program with its recommended legislative agenda including a tax surcharge last October, he said if the Congress didn't respond, he would be back to talk turkey.

Since that time Congress has done very little of a creative nature to deal with inflation and recession and the President has done little more than advise us to clean our plates and ask us to pledge not to spend foolishly and ask our neighbors to do the same. But there are signs pointing to congressional initiative in January and that may have something to do with Ford's new

The question we are asking is: "What went wrong?" We have all the essential possessions for happiness, but we are not happy as a nation. We have survived crises in the past but now we face what seems to be the most dangerous of all crises — disintegration from within. Our nation was founded on firm moral principles. Our forefathers wanted this to be a nation in which God was honored. But what happened. We have abandoned God and we face the danger of being abandoned by Him. The name of the disease is sin. It is easier to go downhill than uphill. We seem to be more interested in sports and fun. We seem to be on a dead-end road. Will we turn back?

> On the other hand, there are well organized interests that favor our present situation. There are multi-national corporations who produce in protected markets using poverty labor to sell in the U.S. with its high-wage buying power. There are the big wholesalers and importers who buy cheap there and sell dear here for a pretty profit.

Virtually every special interest in the country is affected by the

> The reason is politics. The bill boils down to a delegation of power to the President of the United States to do as he pleases about trade - raise or lower, give or take, make nice-nice or talk nasty-nasty. By placing the burden on the presidential shoulders, each congressman can now walk more lightly. He does not have to say no to any constituent. The representative or senator merely has to refer his petitioner to the President.

Congress passed the bill the way it did because that was the best way to pass the buck.

BOSTON - The gravest development of the year 1974, it would now be generally agreed, was the exercise of monopoly power by the oilexporting countries. Omaha (AP) — Farmers must pay income taxes on government payments made to them as the result of crop losses due to drought, a tax official said.

Everett Loury, district director of the Internal Revenue Service of Nebraska, said if a farmer received a payment in 1974 he may not defer reporting it until 1975.

Loury said on the other hand if the farmer did not receive his payment during 1974 he need not report the income on that year's return.

Hangover Complex

The phenomenon of the hangover, which may be experienced by drinkers who have "enjoyed" an overabundance of holiday celebrating, is "very complex," according to

"It's partly due to an accumulation of toxic chemicals not cleared from the body appropriately," he said. And he took issue with the common belief that a person who has a hangover is dehydrated.

"The opposite is ture." Osborne continued. A person experiencing a hangover is "over-hydrated," he said. And the headache that usually accompnies a hangover is partly due to over-hydration, and partly due "to blood vessels not responding appropriately."

Considering the conseuquces, why do so many people choose to celebrate the holdiays "under the influence"?

Dr. Clay Rivers, director of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Department of Psychology's alcohol training program, said, "A lot of it has to do with our notion that parties are a time to whoop it up" and exhibit "extremes of behavior."

And parties are an integral part of holiday observances especially on New Year's Eve.

'Hard To Loosen Up' "We're a very pressured society, and it's hard for us to loosen up at parties," Rivers continued.

Referring to alcohol as "a social lubricant," Rivers noted that parties frequently bring together people who do not know each other well. And alcohol "lowers inhibitions, lets you be less restrained and interact better with people."

He suggested that the excessive consumption of alcohol at holiday parties may be due, in part, to a longstanding "ambivalence toward alcohol" in this cojntry.

The consumption of alchol is condoned in certain "social" situations, and is otherwise thought of as "a very bad kind of "What we need is to think of the drinking of alcohol as a perfectly normal behavior, like eating food," he said. "And it can be used in that context."

If we were to "use it (alcohol) in that way, and have strong rules about being intoxicated,' we would be much less apt to overdo it at holiday parties, Rivers, said.

"The increase in the death rates for respiratory cancer, associated with cigaret smoking in particular, may be due, in part at least, to the lighting of the cigaret, and inhaling some of the combustibles, rather than only to the tobacco the cigaret contains," Marienfeld says.

The findings, presented in Perspectives in Biology and Medicine, a publication of the University of Chicago Press, show that chromium compounds are present in match heads and benzo-a-pyrene, a chemical in tobacco, is also present in soot.

The smoker is inhaling some of both compounds in lighting

But if matches are a possible contributor to lung cancer, why would there not be a greater incidence in men who smoke cigars and pipes?

The light-to-nose distance factains known cancer-producing is captured on a porcelain sur- tor may be a reason. Cigars and pipes are lighted farther from the nostrils. Until recently, most cigarets averaged about 7 centimeters in length, although some filter-types are 85 and a few as long as 10 cm.

Cigars, on the other hand, range upward from 12 centimeters and a pipe, from 12 to Marienfeld-notes that the incidence of lung cancer is higher in cigar smokers living in Switzerland and Germany and the reason may be the popularity of little cigars that are about the same length as cigarets.

Marienfeld also has observed

how men light their smokes. They frequently cup their hands around a cigaret and tilt the head downward

Cigars and pipes are often lighted with a single hand and the jaw tilted upward, he says, placing the nostrils out of direct line of flow.

Another observation: out of doors, especially when the wind is blowing, a cigaret is lighted rapidly with a single flare of the match while the combustible materials are still exploding into flame.

Pipe and cigar smokers usually allow the match or lighter to burn steadily for a few seconds

Safety officials for years have been exhorting the public that 'If you drink, don't drive!" said Jack Merritt, public information coordinator for the Lincoln Alcohol Safety Action Program (LASAP).

Nine Rules For Living

DEAR ABBY: Last New Year's Eve you published nine rules for living. You suggested that they would make an excellent set of New Year's Resolutions, and that's exactly what I used them for.

I read them every morning, and can truthfully say that I am a much better person today than I was a year ago simply because I tried to live by those rules.

In my humble opinion, that was the best advice I've ever read. This is to thank you for that column, Abby, and ask you to please run it again for those who may have missed it. I hope it will do for others what it did for me.

I am not a teen-ager. I am a 33year-old wife and mother, but we are never too old to learn.

STILL LEARNING DEAR STILL: Right! But don't thank me. I didn't originate those rules. I paraphrased them.

good deed for somebody -It's the credo for Overeaters without letting them know it. (If Anonymous — an organization they find out I did it, it won't of loving, caring, confessed comcount.) I will do at least two pulsive overeaters who have things that I know I should do, regained their self-esteem by but have been putting off. I will losing weight, feeling better, not show anyone that my looking better and helping feelings are hurt; they may be others to do the same.

Overeaters Anonymous is patterned after Alcholics Anonymous and Gamblers Anonymous. Both organizations have been hugely successful in rehabilitating compulsive drinkers and gamblers after all else has failed. Their credo:

Sugar Bowl Records Out Of Reach For Huskers' Humm?

By BOB OWENS Star Sports Editor

New Orleans, La. - The first time Nebraska came here to play in the Sugar Bowl football game the Cornhuskers were routed by a lefthanded quarterback from Alabama.

Now, eight years later, the Huskers are back, but this time they have a lefthander of their own in Dave Humm.

Because of Humm's prowess as a passer, coupled with an edge in both size and quickness, Nebraska is a 13-point favorite to beat Florida's Gators and register the Huskers' sixth consecutive bowl-game victory.

Kickoff in the nationally televised game Tuesday night will be 7:08 p.m., Lincoln time, and a crowd in excess of 70,000 is expected to watch in ancient Tulane Stadium for the last time. Next year's game will be played in the $163-million Superdome, which is nearing completion.

Kenny Stabler, now of the Oakland Raiders, engineered Alabama's 34-7 victory over Nebraska in the Huskers' first trip here on Jan. 1, 1967.

The 14,000-plus Big Red fans who are here living it up in the famed French Quarter while awaiting tonight's game are banking on lefty Humm to lead the victory charge against the

Ironically, a former Gator, Steve Spurrier, set all the passing records of Sugar Bowl play when Florida lost to Missouri 21-18 the year before Nebraska's only previous game

Most of them appear to be out of reach for Humm, but it's only because of the type of offense Nebraska has been utilizing this season — a great balance between passing and running. Spurrier's marks include 45 passes attempted, 27 passes completed, and 352 yards passing. If this game goes like most other Nebraska contests Humm isn't likely to be playing much when the fourth quarter rolls around. Hopefully, he'll do most of the damage early. He has looked sharp in practice here and his receivers have been hanging onto the football. Husker coach Tom Osborne calls the game one that will be decided by which team can control the line of scrimmage, the number of turnovers and motivation.

On the other hand, Gator coach Doug Dickey is hoping his team can overcome Nebraska's physical edge in the offensive line by sustaining quickness defensively.

He called it a match up of "good big men" against "good-

Actually, though, Florida's offensive unit can match Nebraska's defense in physical measurements, but might not be big enough to hold an edge in defensive quickness for 60

"Our linemen are not as big as theirs," Dickey said, comparing Florida's defense against NU's offense. "They've got a couple of 250 pound guards. While I don't think they're going to be any quicker, basically, we've got 230 pound defensive people and those fellows had better be quicker or it's going to be a long

Osborne expressed concern over his defensive interior of tackles Mike Fultz and Ron Pruitt and middle guard John Lee. "We can't afford to lose those people becuase our reserves haven't been able to play as well as they do," he said.

Fultz is recovering from a virus which struck several Husker players after they arrived here, but he said "I think I'm going to be at full strength by the kickoff." Lee has recovered from his pinched neck nerve, but injuries of that type could be aggravated if he's hit just right during the game.

So, it boils down to keeping the defensive line intact, keeping Humm on the field to do his thing, and not turning the ball over on mistakes if the Huskers are to win.

The game is a matchup of contrasting offensive styles. Florida runs a ground-oriented wishbone attack, but throws more than the average wishbone team. Nebraska is an Iformation team featuring Humm's dropback passing, protected by a fine offensive line.

Both teams are 8-3 on the regular season and both have freshmen as their leading ball carriers - Monte Anthony of NU (591 yards in 109 attempts) and Tony Green of Florida (856 yards in 133 rushes).

The difference in offenses is Humm, just as it has been for Nebraska for three seasons. He has thrown for more than 5,000 yards overall and averaged 140 yards a game and hit 12 touchdown passes this season.

Nebraska will be counting on its winning tradition and team pride to come back with a victory. The Huskers have had 13 straight winning seasons, a 118-25-3 mark over that span.

KSU Tops NU, 80-63

By MARK GORDON Star Sports Writer

Kansas City, Mo. — The Huskers weren't really trying to be facetious. They were just being honest - Nebraska lost the game in the locker room.

"We just weren't ready to play .. We were still thinking about Saturday (a 63-62 loss to Kansas)," said Husker guard Jerry. Fort after Nebraska absorbed an 80-63 pounding from Kansas State in the battle for third place Monday afternoon at the 29th annual Big Eight Basketball Tournament at Kemper Arena.

Fort, who captured Nebraska scoring honors with 16 points, knew the Huskers weren't prepared to meet Kansas State.

"Playing for consolation honors isn't very satisfying . . . but that's still no excuse for playing like we did," Fort said. "We didn't play any defense . . . or offense.

Although the final score failed to indicate the contrasts in the game, Nebraska actually played quite respectable for the first 15 minutes.

The Huskers, who trailed early 1 by seven points, rallied to take a 24-22 lead on a three-point play by senior forward Steve Erwin. Then they collapsed.

12 points, including eight by Evans and Chuckie Williams (18 freshman Mike Evans, who gained game-scoring honors with 27 points. That pulled coach Jack Hartman's Wildcats to a commanding 34-24 lead.

A three-point play by Fort brought the halftime score to 34-27. But when KSU outscored NU, 16-4 at the start of the second half for a 50-31 lead, the game might as well have ended.

"I thought that once we got them down, they'd quit," said Fort. "But what happened was when they got us down, we quit."

Fort issued a warning to Big Eight teams when the Huskers begin conference action on Jan.

Missouri Tops OU

Kansas City, Mo. - The .Missouri jinx over Oklahoma remained here Monday night at the 29th annual Big Eight Preseason Basketball Tournament at Kemper Arena.

Oklahoma, which dropped a 73-70 decision to Missouri in last year's opening round, lost again to the Tigers. This time — it was a dramatic two-overtime game, 83-81, for the consolation championship.

Junior guard Willie Smith scored a game-high 37 points including the winning basket with only 48 seconds to play.

The Sooners had an ideal opportunity to tie the game with only seconds to play when guard Eddie Fields stole the basketball at mid-court with nine seconds left, but missed what could have been a game-tying layin with five seconds left.

The Jayhawks, who came from 12 points down to nip Nebraska, 63-62, in a semifinal clash last Saturday, came from 13 back here Monday night at Kemper Arena to escape Iowa State, 76-75, and win the 29th annual Big Eight Basketball Preseason Tournament.

Sugar Bowl Records Out Of Reach For Huskers' Humm?

By BOB OWENS

Star Sports Editor New Orleans, La. — The first time Nebraska came here to play in the Sugar Bowl football game the Cornhuskers were routed by a lefthanded quarterback from Alabama.

Now, eight years later, the Huskers are back, but this time they have a lefthander of their own in Dave Humm.

Because of Humm's prowess as a passer, coupled with an edge in both size and quickness, Nebraska is a 13-point favorite to beat Florida's Gators and register the Huskers' sixth consecutive bowl-game victory.

Kickoff in the nationally televised game Tuesday night will be 7:08 p.m., Lincoln time, and a crowd in excess of 70,000 is expected to watch in ancient Tulane Stadium for the last time. Next year's game will be played in the $163-million Superdome, which is nearing completion.

Kenny Stabler, now of the Oakland Raiders, engineered Alabama's 34-7 victory over Nebraska in the Huskers' first trip

The 14,000-plus Big Red fans who are here living it up in the famed French Quarter while awaiting tonight's game are banking on lefty Humm to lead the victory charge against the

Ironically, a former Gator, Steve Spurrier, set all the passing records of Sugar Bowl play when Florida lost to Missouri 21-18 the year before Nebraska's only previous game

Most of them appear to be out of reach for Humm, but it's only because of the type of offense Nebraska has been utilizing this season — a great balance between passing and running. Spurrier's marks include 45 passes attempted, 27 passes completed, and 352 yards passing.

If this game goes like most other Nebraska contests Humm isn't likely to be playing much when the fourth quarter rolls around. Hopefully, he'll do most of the damage early. He has looked sharp in practice here and his receivers have been hanging onto the football.

Husker coach Tom Osborne calls the game one that will be decided by which team can control the line of scrimmage, the number of turnovers and motivation.

On the other hand, Gator coach Doug Dickey is hoping his team can overcome Nebraska's physical edge in the offensive line by sustaining quickness defensively.

He called it a match up of "good big men" against "good

Actually, though, Florida's offensive unit can match Nebraska's defense in physical measurements, but might not be big enough to hold an edge in defensive quickness for 60

"Our linemen are not as big as theirs," Dickey said, comparing Florida's defense against NU's offense. "They've got a couple of 250 pound guards. While I don't think they're going to be any quicker, basically, we've got 230 pound defensive people and those fellows had better be quicker or it's going to be a long

Osborne expressed concern over his defensive interior of tackles Mike Fultz and Ron Pruitt and middle guard John Lee. "We can't afford to lose those people becuase our reserves haven't been able to play as well as they do," he said.

Fultz is recovering from a virus which struck several Husker players after they arrived here, but he said "I think I'm going to be at full strength by the kickoff." Lee has recovered from his pinched neck nerve, but injuries of that type could be aggravated if he's hit just right during the game.

So, it boils down to keeping the defensive line intact, keeping Humm on the field to do his thing, and not turning the ball over on mistakes if the Huskers are to win.

The game is a matchup of contrasting offensive styles. Florida runs a ground-oriented wishbone attack, but throws more than the average wishbone team. Nebraska is an Iformation team featuring Humm's dropback passing, protected by a fine offensive line.

Both teams are 8-3 on the regular season and both have freshmen as their leading ball carriers - Monte Anthony of NU (591 yards in 109 attempts) and Tony Green of Florida (856 yards

The difference in offenses is Humm, just as it has been for Nebraska for three seasons. He has thrown for more than 5,000 yards overall and averaged 140 yards a game and hit 12 touchdown passes this season.

Nebraska will be counting on its winning tradition and team pride to come back with a victory. The Huskers have had 13 straight winning seasons, a 118-25-3 mark over that span.

KSU Tops NU, 80-63

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer Kansas City, Mo. - The Huskers weren't really trying to be facetious. They were just being honest — Nebraska lost the game in the locker room.

"We just weren't ready to play ... We were still thinking about Saturday (a 63-62 loss to Kansas)," said Husker guard Jerry Fort after Nebraska absorbed an 80-63 pounding from Kansas State in the battle for third place Monday afternoon at the 29th annual Big Eight Basketball Tournament at Kemper Arena.

Fort, who captured Nebraska scoring honors with 16 points. knew the Huskers weren't prepared to meet Kansas State.

"Playing for consolation honors isn't very satisfying ... but that's still no excuse for playing like we did," Fort said. "We didn't play any defense . . . or offense.

Although the final score failed to indicate the contrasts in the game, Nebraska actually played quite respectable for the first 15

The Huskers, who trailed early by seven points, rallied to take a 24-22 lead on a three-point play by senior forward Steve Erwin. Then they collapsed.

The Wildcats scored the next 12 points, including eight by freshman Mike Evans, who gained game-scoring honors with 27 points. That pulled coach Jack Hartman's Wildcats to a commanding 34-24 lead.

A three-point play by Fort brought the halftime score to 34-27. But when KSU outscored NU, 16-4 at the start of the second half for a 50-31 lead, the game might as well have ended.

"I thought that once we got them down, they'd quit," said Fort. "But what happened was when they got us down, we quit."

Fort issued a warning to Big Eight teams when the Huskers begin conference action on Jan.

Missouri Tops OU

Kansas City, Mo. - The Missouri jinx over Oklahoma remained here Monday night at the 29th annual Big Eight Preseason Basketball Tournament at Kemper Arena.

Oklahoma, which dropped a 73-70 decision to Missouri in last year's opening round, lost again to the Tigers. This time — it was a dramatic two-overtime game, 83-81, for the consolation championship. Junior guard Willie Smith scored a game-high 37 points including the winning basket with only 48 seconds to play. The Sooners had an ideal opportunity to tie the game with only seconds to play when guard Eddie Fields stole the basketball at mid-court with nine seconds left, but missed what could have been a game-tying layin with five seconds left.

"I thought we did a fairly good job stopping their fast break, but when their guards were as hot as they were, there really wasn't much we could do."

Usually, it's the Husk duo of Fort and Steve Willis that sparks NU. Ironically, it was the Wildcat guard combination of Evans and Chuckie Williams (18 points) that tallied the 45 points.

'We didn't have any tempo at all," Cipriano noted. "They (K-State) run pretty good patterns, but maybe if we had more time to prepare for them . . . It'll be interesting to see what happens on Jan. 18 (when NU hosts the Wildcats in the league opener.

"Yeah, it's been tougher than for most coaches (playing the three league toughies - Kansas. KSU and Oklahoma) down here," Cipriano said. He then added jokingly, "if I had my way, I'd put in a rule against Hartman, still smarting over the Cats' 82-64 loss to Iowa State Saturday in semifinal activity, noted the obvious.

"We played a little better, didn't we," he said. "We just executed. The other night against Iowa State we were flat and didn't move.

"We were coming out with the ball instead of just holding it," he said. "Nebraska appeared to be flat. They played good defense early, made us look at our hole cards. Give Nebraska some credit there."

The game resembled the Nebraska-Kansas State openinground match of last year. In that one, Kansas State ripped the Huskers, 68-47.

Yet, Nebraska rebounded and progressed in two months to defeat KSU, 58-54, at Manhattan. Now the question is, can Nebraska duplicate that feat in just 18 days in Lincoln? The answer may provide the best clue as to Nebraska's chances in this season's conference race.

Kansas City, Mo.-Rallying, dramatic triumphs are becoming routine for the Kansas Jayhawks.

The Jayhawks, who came from 12 points down to nip Nebraska, 63-62, in a semifinal clash last Saturday, came from 13 back here Monday night at Kemper Arena to escape Iowa State, 76-75, and win the 29th annual Big Eight Basketball Preseason Tournament.

The Jayhawks led only once after assuming an early 8-7, but was the lead that counted.

It came when 6-10 senior Rick Suttle, another of coach Ted Owens' outstanding reserves, hit an eight-foot turnabout shot with 39 seconds remaining.

That highlighted a Jayhawk rally that brought the surging Kansans back from a 42-33 halftime deficit.

It appeared that Kansas was through after sophomore forward Lodell Burnett hit a 16foot turnabout shot from the left of the lane to put the Cyclones up by nine at 69-60 with only 6:43 to play.

However, Iowa State failed to score after Art Johnson completed a three-point play with 2:35 left. That made it 75-72 for the Cyclones.

Suttle hit a 12-footer to pull the Jayhawks within one at 75-74 to set the stage for his winning shot that brought the Kemper Arena throng of 12,458 partisan Kansas fans to their feet.

The Cyclones, who seemed to hit the crucial shot all night, were denied the two points they needed the most.

Hercle Ivy, who paced Cyclone scorers with 22 points, fired a seemingly easy 14-footer up from the left of the lane with four seconds remaining.

It didn't go down and Donnie Von Moore grabbed the rebound for KU. He didn't really make any attempt to start a KU march down court - it didn't matter.

The real standout for KU had to be 6-8 forward Norm Cook, who topped KU scorers with 18 points. He received a standing ovation when he fouled out with 2:35 to play.

Senior guard Dale Greenlee hit 13 points for KU while 6-10 center Danny Knight added 12.

The all-tournament team consisted of Oklahoma's Alvan Adams, who also captured most valuable player laurels; Kansas State's Mike Evans, Iowa State's Art Johnson and Ivy and Missouri's Willie Smith.

Adams set a tournament career scoring mark after hitting 31 points in Monday's doubleovertime loss to Missouri.

About 4:30 Tuesday afternoon,

Osborne will huddle again with his quarterbacks to review the results of their test-taking. Humm considers the sessions ultra-valuable for his confidence and preparation. He also fully expects to pass the written challenge in impressive fashion. In five years of playing football in a Cornhusker uniform,

Humm is convinced he's absorbed enough technical football knowledge to fill his own encyclopedia. He confesses that he surprised himself with the year-to-year accumulation of that knowledge. His memory flashes back to his senior year in high school when Nebraska was bidding for his services in a nation-wide recruiting war with Las Vegas

the battle site.

"Coach Osborne came out then and talked about Nebraska's offensive philosophy," Humm recalls. "He brought skeleton films and took about an hour explaining it. "I was really overwhelmed. After that hour, I couldn't have repeated the first thing he said. I thought to myself I'd never learn it," Humm recounted somewhat nostalgically.

Although Nebraska's sincerity and lack of pressure are pinpointed as the lures which swung Humm to Lincoln, prehaps it was the challenge of directing a sophisticated and a highly com-

Humm and four other plex offense. "I feel good coming out of a football program like this," Humm related. "It's a program respected by pro coaches. businessmen, almost everyone who comes into contact with it. "I talk to other players around the country about their programs and it doesn't seem like any other staff stresses details like our coaching staff does," adds Humm.

"It means a lot to me to play with good, steady people and for a program with a good, sound philosophy," Humm stresses. "We have a wide-open offense where everyone, including the lineman, get to do exciting

"The coaches never hesitate to put in new wrinkles and this Sugar Bowl game is no exception," confides Humm. "I'm really excited about some of the new stuff we've got prepared for Florida."

Humm's excitement to play the Gators is naturally enhanced by the fact that it'll be his last game in a Cornhusker uniform. "There's definitely a lot of motivation factors for this game - tons of them in fact. I think we've pushed each other harder for this bowl game than we have for any other," Humm offered. "To me, cliches really have meaning," he adds. "Sure, the game means a lot to me personally, but the team is what's uppermost in everyone's mind. We seniors want to go out

"The six straight bowl wins will be nice to get, but they're really not an incentive for the team," according to Humm. "We look at the bowl more as the start of a new year. We owe it to the underclassmen who start winter conditioning next month to get them started out

Humm says he's tried to push next month's pro football draft out of his mind to concentrate on the more important mission.

He's more concerned with learning all he can about Florida's defense.

"I've seen enough film on them in the last month. I feel confident that I know their philosophy. We've been given an oral quiz after almost every film," notes Humm.

It's no surprise then what he expects to achieve on his final exam Tuesday. David Humm expects to ace another one.

A Game Of Surprises

New Orleans, La. - Fans back in Lincoln should expect Tuesday night's Sugar Bowl game to be full of offensive surprises by both sides, just like the Nebraska Cornhuskers came up with in their fine performance against Oklahoma in the regular season windup.

"We've put in a lot of new things, new wrinkles," quarterback Dave Humm said Monday while relaxing at poolside at Husker headquarters here at the Fontainebleau Motor Hotel.

"We always come up with something different, some new pass patterns and new blocking assignments," he said, while naturally declining to give away any secrets. Florida coach Doug Dickey didn't say it precisely, but one got the impression the Gators, too, will have some surprises for

"(Jimmy) DuBose is about the only straightahead runner we've got, so we need to make yardage by doing something fancy," Dickey said in his final pre-game press conference. "Maybe it might be (Don) Gaffney scrambling around some big guy just out-quicking somebody on some play. I think that has been one of our trademarks — the ability to sustain quickness. When we've played our best that has been one of the things we did

Both teams have had great moments, as well as lapses, en route to 8-3 seasons. Nebraska's lapses, however, came after Humm suffered injuries against Wisconsin and Missouri. The Huskers, though beaten by undefeated Oklahoma, played as well as it did all season.

The Huskers were at their best in a 56-0 victory over Kansas and also piled up impressive triumphs over Oregon 61-7, Minnesota 54-0, Northwestern 49-7, Colorado 31-15, Kansas State 35-7 and Iowa State 23-13. The other decision was over Oklahoma State 7-3.

Gators Upset Auburn

Florida's big moment came in a 25-14 triumph over Auburn, causing a celebration in Gainesville and earning the Sugar Bowl bid a few days later.

"We beat Auburn, We Beat Auburn," the fans chanted after dumping the then-fourth-ranked Tigers. It was the second year in a row for a Gator win over Auburn and again it was the deft quarterbacking of Don Gaffney that made it possible.

Other Florida triumphs came over Florida State 24-14, Maryland 17-0, Louisiana State 24-14, Miami 31-7, California 21-17, Duke 30-13 and Mississippi State 29-13. The losses were backto-back to Georgia 17-16 and Kentucky 41-24 after getting the bowl bid. Earlier the Gators fell to Vanderbilt 24-10. Husker coach Tom Osborne admitted at Monday's press conference the Gators played a little tougher schedule than Nebraska from the standpoint of games against teams that wound up with winning records.

Facing a lefthanded quarterback won't be any problem for the Gators, in Dickey's opinion. "It might take a while getting used to the ball coming out of the left arm," he said. "The thing will have a different look and we might not see it thrown the first four or five times."

The Gators normally flip-flop their defensive line, but Dickey said nothing special has been planned to combat Humm's aerials. "We'd be more inclined to flip-flop on Westbrook," he added about NU's tough running and receiving

The discussion got around to Nebraska's defensive lapses in the fourth quarters of many games this season. Dickey quipped, "I hope we still have a chance to win the game in the fourth quarter. Nebraska really hasn't been asked to play very often in Alabama, now ranked second in the country, again has an unblemished mark, 11-0, and aspirations of winning the national title, and gets its chance for revenge against ninth-ranked Notre Dame, 9-2, in the Orange Bowl at Miami Wednesday night.

The New Year's Day bowl marathon begins with the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas between seventh-ranked Penn State, 9-2, and 12th-rated Baylor, 8-3. Then, No. 3 Ohio State, 10-1, and fifth-ranked Southern California, 9-1-1, will meet for the third straight year in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

Sixth-ranked Auburn and 11thranked Texas opened the week's bowl activity in the Gator Bowl game at Jackconsville, Fla. Monday night.

Top-ranked Oklahoma, 11-0, is ineligible for a bowl game because it is on probation by the NCAA. The Sooners, however, could gain much solace from their bowl exclusion by being named national champion. The final Associated Press poll of the season will be taken after the bowl games.

The Notre Dame-Alabama packed with emotion. In addition to the Crimson Tide's bid for the national championship A year ago, Alabama took an and revenge for last season's bowl loss to Notre Dame, Alabama will be out to snap its seven-game winless streak in bowl competition. During that string, Alabama has lost six games and tied one.

For Notre Dame, it will be Ara Parseghian's last game as coach. and the Irish also will be trying to erase the humiliation of a 55-24 loss to Southern Cal in its final game of the regular season.

The Rose Bowl figures to be an explosive running game, dominated by Ohio State's Archie Griffin, the Heisman Trophy winner, and Southern Cal's Anthony Davis, the Heisman runnerup. Griffin raced for 1,-620 yards during the regular season and has run for at least 100 yards in a record 22 consecutive games. Davis rushed for 1,354 yards in 1974 and returned 11 kickoffs for a 42.5 average.

Baylor, Southwest Conference champion for the first time in 50 years, will be making its first appearance in the Cotton Bowl, against a Penn State team whose coach, Joe Paterno, has the best winning percentage among active college coaches with a nine-year record of 84-15-1. Quarterback Tom Shuman, second leading passer in Penn State history, sparks the Nittany rematch is expected to be Lions' attack. Baylor's surprising Bears are led by quarterback Neal Jeffrev.

Friend turned a raft of Louisville early fourth quarter turnovers into 10 straight points then fought off a late Lion charge to win the championship of the W Club Holiday basketball tournament, 59-47 at Taylor Gym on the Nebraska Wesleyan University campus Monday night. Reserve Craig Jochim, Kirk Kellough and Gary Stokes led the fourth quarter charge and picked up high-scoring honors for the victorious Bulldogs. Kellough topped scoring with 16. Stokes tipped in 14 and Jochim came off the bench to add 11.

Stokes and Bob Rohrig both picked all-tournament honors for Coach Don Pieper's Bulldogs in the three-day event.

Behind 31-18 early in the second half, Louisville outscored Friend 14-4 to close within three points at 35-32 at the end of the third quarter.

But a pressure defense applied by Friend resulted in the five straight turnovers with Jochim extending the lead to 47-34 on two straight layups, one following a steal by the rangy sub and the other on a tip-in. John Beck led Louisville scoring with 14. Louisville's Mark Hrabik joined Stokes, Rohrig, Shickley's Stan Dowdy and Bill Anderson and Malcolm's Larry Minzel as all-tournament selections. Shickley, the team Friend defeated 66-65 to reach the finals, had little trouble disposing of Malcolm in the battle

Kansas City, Mo. - Oklahoma State, which enjoyed a 58-37 halftime lead, cruised to an easy 101-73 victory over Colorado here Monday afternoon at Kemper Arena in the seventh place game of the annual Big Eight Preseason Basketball Tournament.

The Cowboys, who led by as many as 50 points (at 89-49), advanced to 4-6, while the Buffs fell to 3-7.

It was the second highest scoring total of the tournament, topped only by Iowa State's 107-82 victory over the hapless Buffaloes on Friday night in an opening-round match. The 101 points also represented a Cowboy scoring record, breaking the previous OSU best one-game mark of 96.

Ronnie Daniel paced OSU scorers with 21 points while Tony Lawrence led Colorado with 17 points.

By KEN HAMBLETON

Star Sports Writer Sophomore guards Steve Nauman and Larry Manz helped Tarkio gain a 45-32 halftime lead and hold on to defeat Nebraska Wesleyan at Taylor Gym, 83-79 Monday night.

The two guards, who had seen little action this season, replaced senior starters Jim Wright and 6-6 center Paul Fell when they got into foul trouble mid-way through the first half.

"That had to be the key, when those two sophomores (Manz and Nauman) came in and scored some baskets that we really didn't expect from them." said Tarkio coach Skip Shear.

"We only had nine guys here tonight and only one starter back from last year's team, so when those young guys came through for us it made the difference in the game," he added:

After building a 19-12 lead at the 12:25 mark, Tarkio's offense switched from a man-to-man defense to a 2-1-2 zone.

Wesleyan took the lead for the first time in the game, 20-19, on a shot by Steve Joekel with 9:46 to go in the half. Then Nauman and Manz entered the game and pumped in 10 points between them and gave the Owls the 45-32 halftime advantage.

Nebraska Weslevan switched back to the man-to-man at the start of the second half and came to within a 10 point deficit on a three point play by 6-9 center Blake Butler and two buckets by

The Owls then hit a five minute drought allowing the Plainsmen to close to within five points, before Joe Stirlinger and Fell connected on one-and-one situations.

The two teams then traded baskets until NWU's Tom Maupin and Joekel started hitting from the outside and pulled the Plainsmen to within a 73-69 disadvantage with 3:37 to go in

It appeared as if the Lincoln team had the momentum going for them as they were able to answer every shot the Owls could make and with 1:24 left in the contest the score stood 78-75 in the Missouri team's favor.

Then Joekel, and guard Jack Ball fouled out trying to get the ball from the Owls.

Tarkio, however, could not convert on five straight one-andone free throw situations and the Plainsmen remained only three points down. Then a basket by Bob Knollenberg closed the gap to one point.

NYSE volume jumped to 18.52 million shares, the heaviest total since Nov. 7.

The number of issues traded

Those two swollen statistics, however, were attributed almost entirely to the rush that normally appears in the waning days of the year for purely seasonal

Normally inactive preferred issues, for example, can, like any other stock, become candidates at yearend for tax-switching by investors looking to take a capital loss for tax reasons.

After selling one such issue, the investor would be likely to reinvest the proceeds in another security, in many cases one closely resembling the stock

An additional technical force on the next-to-last trading day of the year appeared to be realignment of portfolios by investing institutions getting ready for yearend reports, which will be made as of Tuesday's close.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You get involved. Nothing happens halfway—it is all or nothing. Know if and don't play games. You will have to pay the piper. One close to you could confide problem. Don't cast first stone. Promises are likely to come free and easy. Be careful!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on how you get along with partner, close associate or mate. Plenty of laughter indicated but also a tendency to forget names and misplace things. Leave details for another time. Make intelligent concessions—that gets New Year off to fine start.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Moderation can be a blessing. Know it and remember it. Pace yourself. You can have fun without building toward a miserable morning. Association with Leo, Aquarius, Scorpio persons is indicated. Co-worker pays compliment. Express thanks without being maidful.

thanks without being maudlin.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you have never been "part of the crowd." You were on your own early, at least in psychological sense. You started something chological sense. You started something important this year — and it will develop in 1975. June should be significant for you in the New Year. You are loyal, direct, not easy to understand. When you love, it is all the way. Aquarius, Leo, Scorpio persons play key roles in your life.

Wilson Deals In Lies, Says Trimble

Albert M. Trimble, superintendent of the Bureau of Indian Affairs Pine Ridge Agency, charged Monday that Oglala Sioux Tribal President Dick Wilson is dealing in lies and misinformation.

Trimble said he referred to statements last week by Wilson, who said Trimble lacked the necessary qualifications to serve the Oglala Sioux.

Trimble said he was a native Oglala Sioux born at Wanblee, a village on the Pine Ridge Reser-"I can only state that most of the people on Pine Ridge know me and my family just as they know Mr. Wilson and his family," Trimble said. "My record of service to my tribe, to the Indian people and to the U.S. government is an open record for anyone to examine and criticize if they wish. I can defend it."

Trimble said he would sincerepursuant to Wilson's charges that he failed to cooperate with the Oglala Sioux tribe.

Trimble said the commissioner of Indian Affairs has said that any charge against any employe will be fully investigated before any action is taken.

Trimble and Wilson have been at odds since Trimble allowed the anti-Wilson American Indian Movement to hold a "victory celebration" on the reservation last fall.

$7 Not Enough For Housebreaker

TOKYO (AP) - A man in a wrinkled raincoat broke into a Tokyo household but refused as "too small" the equivalent of $7 he was offered. The woman of the house then offered him a bill worth about $33 and said, "I'm sorry, but this is all I have." Replied the intruder: "You're wrong, lady. I sorry about having to rob you." Then he bowed, grabbed the bill and fled.

Douglas County Prisoner Exits Sixth-Floor Jail Omaha (UPI) - A 25-year-old

prisoner held on federal charges escaped Monday from the Douglas County Jail, possibly through an air vent, the Douglas County sheriff's office said, The sheriff's office identified the escapee as Robert David Spickler, 6-1 and 190 pounds, who has receeding long brown hair and blue eyes. Chief Deputy Joseph Thornton said Spickler's absence was discovered late in the afternoon, but that it is not known just when he made the break from the sixth-floor facility.

The jail is currently undergoing remodeling, Thornton said, and an air vent torn loose was apparently the escape passage.

Sprickler, whose mother is from Winston Salem, N.C., was awaiting sentencing on an auto theft charge, the sheriff's office said.

Knowles' Death Ruled Justifiable Self-Defense

DOUGLASVILLE, Ga. (AP) that Knowles had told him he - A coroner's jury ruled on Monday that the shooting death of Florida parolee Paul John Knowles during an escape attempt was justifiable selfdefense

The jury of four men and one woman returned the verdict in behalf of Georgia Bureau of Investigation Inspector Ron Angel, who shot Knowles Dec.

Angel and Douglas County Sheriff Earl Lee were transporting Knowles, 28, to Henry County at the time of the shooting because he had promised to point out the location of a revolver he allegedly used in two slavings.

The sheriff said at the inquest

Douglas County Prisoner Exits Sixth-Floor Jail

Omaha (UPI) - A 25-year-old prisoner held on federal charges escaped Monday from the Douglas County Jail, possibly through an air vent, the Douglas County sheriff's office said. The sheriff's office identified the escapee as Robert David Spickler, 6-1 and 190 pounds, who has receeding long brown hair and blue eyes. Chief Deputy Joseph Thornton said Spickler's absence was discovered late in the afternoon, but that it is not known just when he made the break from the sixth-floor facility.

The jail is currently undergoing remodeling, Thornton said, and an air vent torn loose was apparently the escape passage

Owning Gold Can Be Risky For You

bullion ownership could be an appeal to a commodities expensive and risky venture for the average American.

Federal and state officials, bankers and many gold dealers are warning citizens to think twice before they sink their savings into the precious metal. Gold is expensive. The world market price rose to nearly $200 an ounce in anticipation of a Big American demand when the ban against private U.S. ownership was lifted.

There are many extra and hudden charges that could add $5 an ounce to the market price. That means the world price would have to rise between 30% and 50% for the investor to break even when it is resold, which also involves additional charges.

"Betting that will happen may but this has high theft risks. speculator or a Las Vegas odds maker, but it makes no sense for the average consumer to gamble on that kind of long shot," said Charles C. Smith, vice president of Bankers Trust of New York. The additional purchase costs include all or most of the following: A fabrication charge to cut it down to size, a sales commission, transportation charges, storage fees, saying fees to determine authenticity, and sales taxes where applicable.

Investors could avoid a storage

Most dealers are advising customers to leave their gold in the care of the dealer who will store it in bank depositories. The owner would receive a certificate or receipt of ownership. In addition to reduce storage costs, the owner will save assaying charges when it is resold, if the dealer is reputable and the assaying mark is widely accepted.

5-Ounce Minimum Most dealers and the few banks dealing in gold bullion fee by taking their gold home have established minimum Bureau when in doubt.

purchases of five ounces. The initial investment for the golf itself at Monday's market price would be $1,000.

Fabrication, sales commission, storage, transportation and perhaps assaying could add-by conservative estimates - $100 to $200 or even more if the gold is held for a long period of time. Beyond the hidden costs, there is great risk of fraud. Pure gold is easy to counterfeit and the nation's law enforcement agencies have warned citizens to buy gold only from reputable dealers and banks and to check with police or a Better Business

Gold Pros And Cons Given

By United Press International

Here are some of the major arguments advanced in the debate over the advisability of buying, selling and owning gold bullion: Advantages

-Gold has its own intrinsic value as a precious metal.

-Currencies and governments may rise and fall, but gold holds its basic value and is universally negotiable.

-The price of gold has quadrupled in the past four years and therefore is a good invest-Gold is expensive, selling for nearly $200 an ounce at today's prices.

 It is a highly speculative commodity, rising and falling in value on world markets in which few Americans have any experience.

-In addition to the market price, buyers will have to pay 20% or more in commission fees, storage, assaying and sales taxes where

-Gold draws no interest and pays no dividends.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

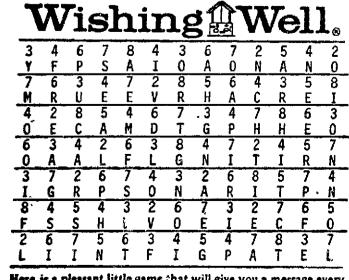

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: IF YOU FIND A GOOD THING, DO NOT REJOICE. IF YOU LOSE A GOOD THING, DO NOT DESPAIR.—RUSSIAN PROVERB

(© 1974 King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzie designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. OKing Features Syndicate, Inc., 1974. World rights reserved.
